President’s Message

Terry Bernhardt, SRA
2005 Chapter President

The summer of ’05 will surely go down in history as one of the busiest for all appraisers, both commercial and residential. The capital flight from the stock market and other alternative investments into real estate has become a torrent, fueling a feeding-frenzy of building, buying, and refinancing. Now, more than ever, the importance of professionalism in our industry is paramount.

In an age of AVM’s, flippers, identity thieves, and appraisal forgers; merely being an awful appraiser seems almost tolerable. For many mortgage clients, an awful appraisal is just fine—so long as it hits the number and can be delivered yesterday. This is also the time for aspiring professionals to show what they’re capable of, and to quietly build lasting business relationships based upon quality and timely service.

Therein lies the mission of the Appraisal Institute—quality education and professional development—and an opportunity to build managing and marketing skills that will define the difference between a job and a career.

The 2006 education schedule has been finalized and can be found on page 7. You can also check these postings online at either www.oregonappraisers.org or www.appraisalinstitute.org. Our education & seminar chairs, Kathleen Buono and Matthew Larrabee, have done another outstanding job. AI Golf Tournament Held at OGA Golf Course

GOCAI held the annual Strecker Memorial golf tournament on Thursday, September 22, 2005. The event was again held at the OGA Golf Course in Woodburn, with over 40 golfers again attending. We were honored this year with the attendance of Shannon Strecker and her boys, Nathan and Ryan. The three of them donated a new revolving trophy that will be awarded to the winning team each year.

This year’s winning team in the scramble format, and holder of the new trophy, was the foursome of Matt Meyer, Jeffrey Hirata, Kento Hirata and Jay Onchi. They shot a score of 58, or 14 under par! Good job. Second place with a team score of 61 was Steve Carr, Jeff Tingley, Jack Crosley and Bryan Hoopman.

Individual winners for the closest-to-pin competition were Steve Oleson, Jack Crosley, Jeff Matteo and Joan Ricci. Each received a gift certificate from the pro shop for their efforts. All the winners in the team and individual competitions also received Pro-V golf balls that were donated by John Satterberg at Community Financial Corp. Thank you John!

Please make plans to attend next year’s tournament. Each year we are able to make a donation to scholarship fund that has been set up for the Strecker Children. The larger the group, the more fun we have, and the more that gets donated. Tournament director Scott Henningsen is open to new ideas and/or feedback, so do not hesitate to give him a call.

ttee such as education, public relations, governmental affairs, or membership development & retention. It’s a lot of fun and very rewarding.

Speaking of governmental affairs, in the 2005 legislative session, the Greater Oregon Chapter helped secure passage (or blocked) several very important measures affecting appraisers and the appraisal profession. Measure 37 programs were held across the state—often with chapter member’s input. Several members testified at legislative committee hearings, and the Oregon ACLB secured passage of several needed bills to better serve both the public and the appraisal profession. We are indebted to Fred VanNatta, our very effective lobbyist, and several members—including Larry Ofner, MAI, Roxanne Gillespie, MAI, Matthew Larabee, MAI, Brian Glanville, MAI, and others who rushed to Salem on short notice to represent us.

In closing, I’d like everyone to extend support to Larry Ofner as he continues to undergo chemotherapy. Larry is one of the best friends our chapter and our profession has ever had.

Ofner Appointed to AQB

After serving six years on the Appraisal Standards Board (ASB), in May Larry Ofner was asked by the Board of Trustees of The Appraisal Foundation to take a special appointment to the Appraisal Qualifications Board (AQB) for a 2.5 year term, effective immediately. The AQB establishes the criteria for State certification of appraisers, including education and experience.

Ofner has accepted the appointment and attended the AQB meeting in San Diego in June.

DOD, GSA, NASA
Finalize Rule for Gov’t Property Rent Charges, Independent Appraisals

Three government agencies have issued a joint final rule amending the Federal Acquisition Regulation to allow contractors to obtain property appraisals from independent appraisers and to permit appraisal-based rentals for all property rented by the government.

In addition, the Department of Defense, General Services Administration and National Aeronautics and Space Administration have amended the regulation to establish as the basis for rental charges the time property is actually used for commercial purposes, rather than the time available for use; and to allow contracting officers to consider alternate bases for determining rentals.

The agencies said these changes, effective as of August 26, 2005, are intended to encourage the dual use of government property. This rule incorporates principles applicable to the DOD since 1998 and applies to the entire federal government.

Don Jon Mason
March 10, 1921 - February 14, 2005

Born in Portland, Don died there after a short illness under the tender care of Willamette Falls Hospice. He attended Whitaker School on Columbia boulevard, which at the time, was “way out in the country.” In 1939, he graduated from Jefferson High School where he was on the track team and raised 4-H sheep. At Oregon State College he was a member of Pi Kappa Phi and majored in Agricultural Economics. Graduating in 1943, he joined the U.S. Navy, where he served as communications officer in the Atlantic and Pacific and was on one of the first ships to arrive in Japan at the end of World War II.

He met Hazel McKay, his lifelong sweetheart, during high school in the 4-H cafeteria at the Oregon State Fair. They married on Christmas Eve, 1943. The couple lived in Portland and Salem for many years. Don was the fruit buyer for Stark Foods in Salem and later headed the Farm Appraisal Section for the Oregon Department of Veterans Affairs. In 1967, upon being awarded the MAI designation, he formed the real estate valuation firm, Don J. Mason Associates, which his two daughters later joined and worked with their dad until his retirement in 1985. He was past president of the Oregon Chapters of the Appraisal Institute, the American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers and the Society of Real Estate Appraisers.

For many years, Don and Hazel, were active in St. Paul’s Church in Salem and later at St. Francis of Assisi in Wilsonville. The couple has lived in Tualatin for the past six years. Together they drove the back roads of Oregon hunting out wildflowers for Don to catalog, photograph and print. Don tirelessly studied Lewis and Clark, Thomas Jefferson, and Henry David Thoreau. He had a comprehensive collection of classical music. His favorite proclamation to Hazel was “Aren’t we lucky to have great kids and grandkids and to live in Oregon and to be together?”

Besides Hazel, his wife of sixty-one years, Don is survived by his three children: Kathryn Gerheard (Bob, deceased), Dr. S. Jon Mason (Joyce) and Karen Mason; grandchildren, S. McKenzie Zollner, Megan Morgan (Mitchell), Lindsay Kleps (Mark), Kiertsen Cutsforth (Donovan) and David Mason. Don and Hazel’s first great-grandchild, Mason Cutsforth, is to be born this month. Their granddaughter, Katy Zollner, was killed by a drunk driver in 2000.

A private family gathering has been held. In memory of Don, contributions may be made in Don’s name to the Katy Zollner Endowment (KYSG) at the Oregon State University Foundation, 850 SW 35th Street, Corvallis, Oregon 97333.

Arrangements are in the care of Atwell’s Sherwood Funeral Chapel, a Golden Rule funeral home.

State of Washington Enacts Appraiser Bill

Washington Governor Christine Gregoire signed into law both bills of major interest to real estate appraisers this past summer. This favorable action enacted both the Trainee Real Estate Appraiser Bill (SB 5274) and the Excise Tax Affidavit Filing Disclosure Bill (HB 1315) in their entirety following their overwhelming final passage by both chambers of the Legislature.

Details and legislative history can be found at http://www.leg.wa.gov/wsladm/billinf1/bills.cfm. Enter the bill numbers in the search engine block in the top right portion of the page to go to each bill’s summary page. On that page, scroll down to — OTHER THAN LEGISLATIVE ACTION — Delivered to Governor. (Bill as Passed Legislature) (PDF Version), and print the PDF Version.

SB 5274 establishes “a trainee real estate appraiser classification” within the Real Estate Appraiser Act.

SB 5274
establishes “a trainee real estate appraiser classification” within the Real Estate Appraiser Act

Friday, July 8, at 9:00 am. It is very important that appraisers attend and provide input before and at the meeting. Details are at http://www.dol.wa.gov/app/appfront.htm.

The effect will be to make the data from LLC filings readily available to all, including appraisers, real estate licensees and county officials.

Terry Bernhardt, SRA Installed in Oregon Aviation Hall of Honor

Col. Terry Bernhardt is among a group of Distinguished Oregonians who were installed in the Oregon Aviation Hall of Honor at the Evergreen Aviation Museum in McMinnville. Bernhardt earned the distinguished Flying Cross for the Air Force during the Vietnam War.

Bernhardt is among several aviators installed at the October 25th ceremony. The group included Jake DeShazer, a member of Doolittle’s Raiders on the attack of Tokyo in World War II.

Sudden Market Changes Related to Catastrophic Events

Question:
I live and work just outside the area recently devastated by Hurricane Katrina. My market area is experiencing sudden changes in supply and demand, and real estate sales prices have climbed rapidly. Does USPAP provide advice to real estate appraisers on how to handle sudden market changes brought about by such catastrophic events?

Response:
Although USPAP does not directly address the appraisal issues associated with catastrophic events, the following passages may be especially important in appraisals involving properties in markets that are changing rapidly, for any reason.

Standards Rule 1-2(e) requires an appraiser to identify economic attributes relevant to the subject property. Standards Rule 1-3(a) specifically requires analysis of supply and demand.

For Self-Contained and Summary Appraisal Reports, USPAP requires disclosure of “economic property characteristics relevant to the assignment.” Market conditions (including sudden market changes related to catastrophic events) are “economic property characteristics,” and so should be identified in the development of an appraisal and disclosed in the appraisal report.

Standards Rules 2-2(a)(v) and 2-2(b)(v) address the type and definition of value used in an assignment. The ASB USPAP Q&A is issued to inform appraisers, regulators, and users of appraisal services of the ASB responses to questions raised by regulators and individuals; to illustrate the applicability of the Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice (USPAP) in specific situations; and to offer advice from the ASB for the resolution of appraisal issues and problems.

USPAP Q&A
Vol. 7, No. 9 ; September 2005

This communication by the Appraisal Standards Board (ASB) does not establish new standards or interpret existing standards. The ASB USPAP Q&A is issued to inform appraisers, regulators, and users of appraisal services of the ASB responses to questions raised by regulators and individuals; to illustrate the applicability of the Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice (USPAP) in specific situations; and to offer advice from the ASB for the resolution of appraisal issues and problems.

In cases of sudden market change, it would be necessary to specifically disclose such things as how the appraisal has addressed the motivation of buyers and sellers, supply and demand, the conditions of the sale (e.g. exposure in a competitive market), etc.

As noted in STANDARD 2, the content of all real property appraisal reports, “must be consistent with the intended use of the appraisal...” In the case of a rapidly changing market, the report must have enough information to allow intended users to understand the market conditions and to use that information in their decision making.

FHA Commissioner Outlines Sweeping Changes

In a recent speech to lenders, Federal Housing Administration Commissioner Brian Montgomery addressed appraisal reform, specifically “as repaired” appraisals. Reiterating the FHA’s recent abandonment of the Valuation Condition form and the Homebuyer Summary, in lieu of the new Fannie Mae appraisal forms, including the option of an as-is appraisal, Montgomery said the FHA will continue to work with lenders and appraisers to ensure that FHA appraisals are consistent with the rest of the market.

During his speech at the FHA Lenders Conference in Washington, D.C., Montgomery said it was his mission to bring FHA back, to reinvigorate the agency and restore it to its intended position within the marketplace. Montgomery admitted that over the last decade, FHA has fallen behind, “unable to keep pace with a mortgage market that is dynamic and adaptable” but declared that with a new management team in place, it won’t allow the restoration to be plagued by “70-year-old legislation and rigid regulations to aging systems and limited staffing.”

“Appraisal reform and lender insurance represent a real transformation in the way we do business at FHA,” Montgomery said. He explained that the previously required “as repaired” appraisals were intended to ensure that a property financed by FHA was in good condition for the borrower. “Unfortunately,” he said, “these appraisals drove our partners and prospective borrowers away from FHA. The appraiser would identify every single condition in need of repair, as well as those in need of additional evaluation by a qualified expert. The underwriter would then ensure that all repairs were completed and the borrower would acknowledge that he or she was aware of the required repairs.”

Montgomery called the process “tedious and time-consuming and often unclear,” stating that appraisers were afraid not to identify every little nick and scratch and underwriters were afraid to waive the repair requirements for meaningless and minor conditions.
Homes With Trout Streams

From The Wall Street Journal Online

Summer brings peak conditions for fly fishing, and for some anglers the lure of a watering hole to call their own. Here are three ranches for less than $2 million, each with a river running through it (including one in Oregon).

PLACE/PRICE: Hamilton, CO. / $975,000
PROPERTY TAX: $1,020/year *
THE PROPERTY: Williams Fork Ranch is 250 acres in northwest Colorado, an hour from Steamboat Springs
DESCRIPTION: Private access to almost 1 mile of the Williams Fork River, with plentiful brown and brook trout. The 2,056-SF home on the property has 4 bedrooms, 3 baths and a hot tub.
NOTABLE: Adjacent to thousands of acres of public land and 12 miles from the nearest town. Mule deer and elk hunting.

PLACE/PRICE: Wasco, OR. / $1.4 million
PROPERTY TAX: $3,255/year *
THE PROPERTY: John Day River Ranch comprises 165 acres in central Oregon, 2 hours from Portland
DESCRIPTION: Surrounded by federal land, with 1 mile of frontage on the John Day River, with its runs of wild steelhead and Chinook salmon. The 2,000-SF lodge has 3 bedrooms and 2.5 baths.
NOTABLE: 30 miles from the John Day’s confluence with the Columbia River. Hunters can pursue deer, elk, partridge and quail.

PLACE/PRICE: Star Valley, Idaho / $1.5 million
PROPERTY TAX: $600/year (est.)
THE PROPERTY: Twin Creek Ranch extends over 320 acres in eastern Idaho, 90 miles from Jackson Hole, Wy.
DESCRIPTION: Two creeks, sheltering rainbow, cutthroat and brown trout, cross the ranch for more than a mile before joining. The 1,350-SF house has 3 bedrooms and 2 baths.
NOTABLE: The original settlers nicknamed the area “Little Switzerland” for its green valleys and snow-capped peaks.
